

9 Benefits of Agencywide Certificate Sharing with FedHire

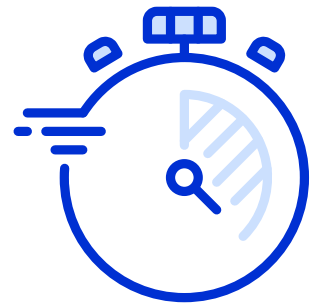

ApplyGov is underway developing a new set of tools to facilitate agencywide certificate-sharing with FedHire. Through a seamless integration with your agency's federal talent acquisition, including the Selecting Official module, HR users, Hiring Managers, and even Shared Cert Coordinators, can have a head start on their hiring process without having to jump between their agency systems and USAJOBS.

See how agencywide certificate sharing could amplify your federal hiring

Immediate Benefits:

- 1. Greatly reduce an agency's time to hire and workload on HR/hiring managers with pre-qualified candidates and ability to quickly view shareable certificates
- 2. Better compete with other agencies for talent with quicker time-to-hire
- 3. Help a qualified candidate get hired – faster – by exposing them to more opportunities with the agency
- 4. Positions agency as a modern, effective, and efficient employer that amplifies a candidates' efforts to find the right fit instead of having to individually apply to every opportunity
- 5. Agency data and access remains secure since it's within your agency FedHire environment

Long Term Benefits:

- 6. Aligns with new administration's EOs, guidance, and initiatives prioritizing efficiency in government and hiring of the best, qualified talent
- 7. Helps agencies retain qualified candidates applying for vacancies and foster those relationships
- 8. Provides a building block to expand on current certificate-sharing with other federal agencies (externally) to provide a similarly better and seamless experience
- 9. Positions us for a potential future plan to empower federal agencies with their own talent pool within FedHire
